Forming in 2003, Swiss death dealers Nihilo have been a potent and powerful presence on the extreme music stage since the release of their debut EP, Nyktophobia, in 2008. Following that fierce and feral beginning Nihilo have gone on to release two further EPs, four full length albums - including the critically acclaimed Dum Spiro Spero, described by The Metal Crypt as "dark, vicious, heavy and brutal" - and last year the incendiary live set Chaos Unleashed. Now, still spearheaded by the ever-constant presence of vocalist Ragulan Vivekananthan, Nihilo are set to launch their next offensive. Sounding bleaker, harder and more devastating than ever before and bound in blood to new label Xtreem Music, Nihilo are about to unveil the macabre majesty of Abyss!

Abyss hits hard and convinces utterly, right from the first frantic riffs of opening track 'Primal Instinct'. Gathering power like an oncoming storm, black clouds cut open by dazzling lightning strikes of lead work and driven across the sky by a cataclysmic rhythm section, this is a daunting welcome to Nihilo's latest profane feast of blood. And there is no respite from the extreme aggression and consuming shadows as Abyss thunders on... Ragulan's imperious voice leads the charge like an elemental demigod, into the foreboding dance of death that is 'Impending Doom', radiating a sense of the ancient, the primeval, an aura of forgotten horrors and violent ritual. 'Dishonoured Death', featuring Shyai of Impiety is a crawling alien horror, emptying into a pit of destructive blackened fervour, while 'Veil Of Nothing' is the sound of a mind unravelling, the melodic solo spinning out into the darkness, the song ending in haunting, hollowing emptiness that leads straight into the blood-boiling savagery of 'Suffocating Silence'. Then, just when you think you have become accustomed to the sheer heaviness of Abyss, Nihilo unleash 'Roots In Bone', an invocation of intensity to shatter spines. Everything finally reaches its ending in the sinister 'Enter The Abyss', a howling black hole of terror and a crushing conclusion to an intimidating album of unearthly magnificence!

Produced and mixed by Romano Galli and Simon Egli at HardBeat Studio (Defaced, Omnicide, Sulphur Sun etc) and mastered by Christophe Brandes at Iguana Studios, Abyss sounds utterly formidable. Bound in the disconcerting and unsettling artwork of Rodrigo Pereira Salvatierra (Lurker Of Chalice, Leviathan, Perversor etc) its darkness is complete and absolute. Xtreem Music will open the gates to the Abyss on November 3rd – lower your gaze in fear and submission before the return of Nihilo!
